

Memorandum: from Hanne Strong and James O'Dea

Concerning: the High Level Delegation of Mamos from Colombia

In the month of August an unprecedented delegation of sixteen spiritual elders and highly evolved masters known as Mamos will visit the United States from Colombia as part of a global tour. The delegation of Mamos represents the most urgent mission that was given to them by the Great Mother to carry out. The caretakers of all of creation have been directed to go abroad and complete certain ceremonies and provide offerings in specific Sacred places across the world. The delegation will first, divide into groups of four to visit regions of the United States including four who will visit Colorado and the Southwest -awakening humanity to relearn nature's laws and disseminate her warnings to humankind.

The Mamos have identified key sacred sites that need vibrational reactivation as well as critical regions and communities, which need ecological protection. Their work will focus on restoring, healing and revitalizing these sacred sites and communities through ceremonies, prayers, pagamento offerings, community gatherings and specific trainings. They have themselves received very specific spiritual instructions from guidance, subtle interactions and direct communion with the intelligence of Mother Earth.

At this critical time in human history of ecological and social crisis the arrival of this delegation of Kogi masters is an unprecedented opportunity which must be realized with honoring and deep respect and with all necessary resources. The Manitou Institute & Conservancy is launching an urgent appeal to raise $30,000 to cover all costs for the Colorado and Southwest delegation's expenses.
